LOOKING INTO THE FUTURE

Believing this good year 1940 to be a propitious time for expansion, H. Gold and Abe Dobrow, proprietors of theatre enterprises in the Lake Okeechobee Region, have just completed erection of a beautiful and attractive $40,000.00 theatre building in Pahokee, to be known as the New Prince Theatre.

Messrs. Gold and Dobrow, like many other pioneers in this new country, are gazing far into the future and in the erection of this handsome new movie house have taken out a big stake in these parts. The new theatre should take care of Pahokee and environs for many years to come. It has been built with an eye to the future and these gentlemen are due sincere congratulations from those of us here who actually wait the section to grow and prosper.

On Sunday afternoon, November 3, the doors of this magnificent new structure will be thrown open to the public and it goes without saying that citizens will be eager to visit the theatre and see first hand just what it is like. The interior of the theatre has been arranged for the comfort and convenience of those who enjoy movie entertainment. The front of the building is as modern as the city.

In order that moviegoers may have the finest effect from the sound films the interior of the building has been specially treated with materials manufactured to make it acoustically perfect. New sound equipment has been installed and the latest type projection booth will house this splendid equipment. Handsome leather upholstered seats have been put in place and beautiful carpet covers the entire floor. The lobby of the structure is attractive with its hand-tiled and terrazzo and a delicate shade of pink makes the walls and ceiling pleasing to the eye.

Messrs. Gold and Dobrow are not stopping with the completion of the New Prince Theatre in Pahokee. They are refurbishing the Everglades theatre in Belle Glade. New lighting fixtures of the very latest type are being installed throughout the building. Several hundred new seats have been installed for the comfort of the patrons. The seats are the same type as those installed in the New Prince. A new ventilating and heating system is in the plans and new stage draperies will add to the beauty of the interior. The canopy being rebuilt this week and when completed will have a semblance of the one which adorns the New Prince. The entire lobby of the Everglades film house will be rebuilt and redecorated before the plan is complete. It is expected that the remodeling and refurbishing plan at the Belle Glade show house will run around $100,000.00 before completed. The structure was erected a few years ago and at that time was one of the finest sound theatres in South Florida.

With an expenditure of $50,000.00 on the two movie houses in the Lake farming section, we are assured of the finest that is to be had in movie houses. An industry in its infancy only a few years ago—now steps out to its rightful place in the sun. And we, here on the shore of Lake Okeechobee will have opportunity to visit, as often as we desire, two of the most modern sound theatres in the state.

To Messrs. Gold and Dobrow we say: "May your enterprises bring you a profitable return on your investment, and as many happy hours of clean and wholesome entertainment for those of us who thoroughly enjoy good moving pictures."

POISON IN THE FIELD

The Florida agricultural extension service after urging growers to plant cutworms as a cover crop until it has been introduced and is now growing promiscuously in practically every citrus growing county in the state, now in this week's "News Letter" warns that it is poison and will kill livestock if they eat it.

Many sportsmen and bird lovers believe cutworms are responsible for decrease in the number of game and song birds in this section.

Highlands, being one of the leading cattle producing counties in the state, probably has more cutworms growing wild than most counties. Growers should have been warned about the plant being poisonous to animals and birds at the time it was recommended as a cover crop. If they had, many of them would have either used some other cover crop or would have been careful not to let it spread outside their groves.

"We wouldn't be surprised to see the state spending thousands of dollars within the next few years to eradicate this plant which the extension service has introduced," Sebring News.

BIGGEST IN FLORIDA

According to the Fort Meade Leader, Fort Meade has the largest oak tree and the largest grapevine in the state of Florida. Any town that can boast of the largest of most anything can well be proud of the fact.

We don't begrudge Fort Meade's claim to two largest objects, but believe that Frostproof should also do some boasting if we can find a large dose of something that we can talk about. We have more elevation, more citrus, more timber, more mangoes and avocados and more free weather.

Which is saying a mouthful and we perhaps might dig up something or other that is the largest in Frostproof News.

FEELS UNJUSTLY ACCUSED

Gilbert Leach, editor of the Leesburg Commercial, feels that he is being treated unjustly when he is called a Republican.

Just because, when his letter took the party standard and headed down a sidewalk he refused to follow. Says Mr. Leach:

"Some people are just dumb and can't help it. I am editing a democratic newspaper in the same spot for a quarter of a century and when we raise a howl about the terms that have eaten the 'gut' out of our party and make no bones about our feelings in the matter, we find that the word is being spread around that we always have been a Republican but kept it hidden for business reasons." And this is about the man whom William Jennings Bryan always spoke of as his youngest campaigner in 1896!—The Clevelander News.

very interesting smoking tobacco in a pipe became a part of the ceremony of forming a peace treaty between the Indians and the whites.

In 1558 the native American tobacco plant was transferred to Spain, and its cultivation began there on a large scale. Soon afterwards the use of tobacco spread all over Europe. Its use became especially popular in England. In 1605, Raleigh, the first European settler in North America, introduced the spreading confederacy, smoked a pipe of tobacco when he was walking to the gallows to have his head chopped off at the order of Queen Elizabeth, whose favor the gallant Raleigh had once gained by reading his code for her queenly feet to tread upon.

From the very beginning tobacco has been a very lucrative line. It not only made money for its growers and handlers, but at one time in the colonies it was actually used as money. One of Patrick Henry's hottest speeches was against the aversive effort of the persons of the colony of Virginia to take too large a portion of the grower's tobacco to apply on their salaries; yes, in those days they paid the preacher with tobacco. Tobacco was such a money-maker in those early days that the citizens of Jamestown, who owned no individual land, planted and cultivated tobacco crops in the streets of that colonial city.

Tobacco has been responsible for some of the largest fortunes in America. The vast fortune of James Buchanan Duke was made largely from tobacco. The duces that daughter Doris (now Mrs. James H. H. Crompton) has just cutting all over the country for years have been made possible by Buck Duke's tobacco millions.

The extremely beautiful Bubbles Schinasi, who took as a husband the movie star Wayne Morris, is a tobacco heiress. She is to inherit about $2,000,000 of tobacco fortune when she attains twenty-one years of age. It took

Rogers-Joyce

Mrs. Frances Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Joyce of Pahokee, and W. L. Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rogers, also of Pahokee, were married by W. J. Larimore, justice of peace, at the latter's home Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The bride was formerly a student at the Pahokee High School and the groom is a graduate of the most noted commodity school before her marriage.

The young couple will live in Pahokee where Mr. Rogers is manager of Rogers Milk Company.

Here Are a Few Things That Happened 15 Years Ago In The Glades and Were Recorded by The Everglades News

Taking a census of bath tubs in the Glades so far as the Everglades News can ascertain there are only two bath tubs between Okeechobee City and Clewiston. One of these tubs is in the old Custard Apple Inn in Canal Point.

A new bakery is being erected by V. C. Dinton to be managed by Mr. Graham and wife.

To give more room for automobiles to make the turn at the bridge or to turn to the Pahokee road, Emory J. Thomas of West Palm Beach is having contractor S. J. Thibodeaux move his two buildings back from the Conners Highway frontage to the line with the Highway Store on the east.

Belle Glade met defeat at the South Bay ball team Sunday. The score was 11 to 7.

Casper Schilling and sons are making delivery of the ice from the Buford ice plant. The bottling plant will be running next week.

A most enjoyable evening was spent October 17 at the house warming in the South Bay school house. The rooms were charmingly decorated with alternate colored streamers of orange and blue which were suspended from above. The crowd was breathless as the time approached to close the beauty contest which was the main feature of the evening. Miss Alice Forbes, the winner, was presented with a box of candy. The proceeds which exceeded all expectations will be used to purchase a new piano for the school.

His bond having been approved and all of the other preliminaries done with, W. F. Buchanan is now the qualified justice of peace in this district.

A Halloween Carnival will be held on the school grounds Friday night. The proceeds are for the benefit of the school athletic association and the library. Everybody come and have a good time. Go into the Witch Pit and enjoy a real honest-to-goodness thrill.

Myterious, sensational! See Pearl the fat girl and hear her sing. Play Bingo and win a prize. Someone wins a prize every time and only 10c must be paid for the chance to play. Get your fortune told at the fortune telling booth and while there lay in a supply of confetti and vote for the most popular girl. Don't fail to come.

It may be six months before the Southern Bell Telephone Company line on East Beach is rebuilt and a local exchange installed. A telephone company employee who was in Canal Point Tuesday evening a large or houseboat for use as quarters for a portion of his crew said it would take that long to complete the construction of a line from South Bay to Clewiston and the work could not start until the crew finished the work it is now on.

Captain A. W. Shackelford whose boat has served the communities on the western and southern sides of the lake for several years has sold his launch, tug and barges to a man in Ft. Lauderdale and has retired from business.

Carman Salvatore is making trips to West Palm Beach with his truck hauling back hampers to Pahokee drawers. His truck is the one chiefly employed by East Beach people to get supplies from the east coast.

Do You Know the Proper Ways For Displaying The U. S. Flag?

Here Are A Few Rules to Follow—Them You'll Always Be Right

1. The flag should be flown only from sunrise to sunset.
2. The flag must never touch the ground or the floor.
3. Nothing should ever be placed on the flag except the Holy Bible.
4. At sunset ("retreat"), during the playing of the national anthem, the flag should be lowered. Civilian spectators should stand at attention; with heads uncovered. Military spectators should stand at attention and give the military salute.
5. Do not drape the flag over the hood, top, or back of a car, train, or boat. When the flag is displayed on a car, the pole should be firmly attached to the chassis or clamped to the radiator cap.
6. The flag should never be flown "upside-down" except in case of distress at sea.
7. When the flag is used as a banner, the field of stars is at the right (as you face the altar).
8. When several flags are displayed on poles, the national flag is the first to be raised on the tallest and most conspicuous staff. When another flag is displayed on a building with the national flag, the latter should be on the right. (To determine the right, face in the same direction as the main entrance of the building).
9. No flag should ever be flown on the same staff as the national flag (except the church pennant during services in the Navy—God above country).

10. On shipboard, the national flag is the first to be raised and the last to be lowered.

11. When the flag is flown as a sign of mourning, hoist it to half staff, dropping it from the top to a distance equal to the width of the way the stripes run; of the flag. Before lowering the half-staff flag at sunset, hoist it to the top of the pole.

12. On parade, when the national flag is carried with any others, it should either precede the others or be carried in the center above the others on a higher staff.

NEW PRINCE TO OPEN WITH 'RETURN OF FRANK JAMES'

Splendid Film In Technicolor Is Scheduled For Opening Program Nov. 3

Doors of New Theatre Will Open To The Public At 3 p. m.

In an effort to find an outstanding picture with which to open the New Prince Theatre on Sunday, Messrs. Gold and Dobrow, proprietors, chose "The Return of Frank James," in which Henry Fonda is starred as Frank James. The picture is in technicolor and the theatre proprietors feel sure that patrons of the theatre will thoroughly enjoy the opening program. A newswriter and a diversified program of short subjects will also be shown.

Henry Fonda, the star, has a certain kindly feeling for the memory of the James boys, but admits though they were. For it was the role of Frank James, which Fonda created in "Jesse James," that established the actor as one of the top ranking stars of movies. And it was the success of that picture, which led 20th Century-Fox to produce the new Technicolor triumph, "The Return of Frank James."

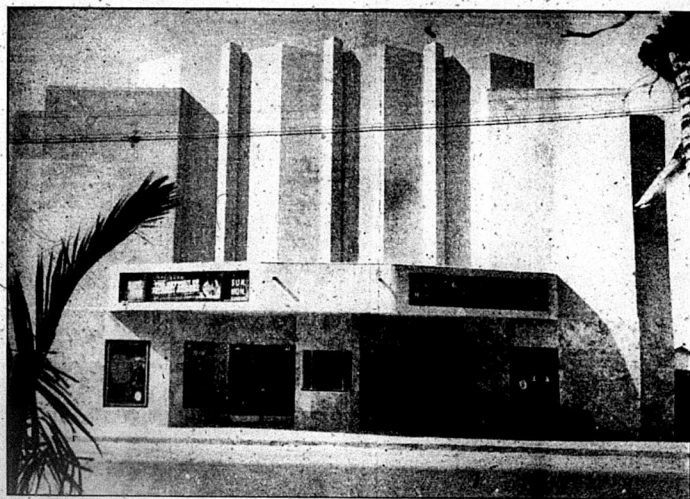

Fonda began his film career in 1935, and proved a capable player who steadily gained in film stature. Inevitably, he was certain to become a leading star. But the attainment of that happy eminence was realized with his performance in "Jesse James." Cast then, as in the cast in "The Return of Frank James," in the role of Frank James, Fonda's part was obviously secondary to the title role. But the skill developed on the stage and screen showed its fruition with the amazing performance he gave in that part.

20th Century-Fox studio was not slow in realizing that it had a player of prime stellar ability in Fonda. The list of pictures in which he has since been cast demonstrates that conclusively.

It was a foregone conclusion, when the decision was made to explore cinematically the adventures of Frank James, that Fonda would be cast to play the role which Fonda, a little over a year earlier, hoisted him to star rank. And the casting of Fonda in the title role was a certain indication that "The Return of Frank James" was to be a production of major proportions.

In the cast with Fonda are Gene Tierney, Jackie Cooper, Henry Hull, John Carradine, J. Edward Bromberg, Donald Meek, Eddie Collins and George Barbier. Fritz Lang directed. The picture was produced by Darryl F. Zanuck with Kenneth Macgowan as associate producer. Sam Hellman wrote the original screen play.

One of the most valuable lessons to learn, is the difference between enough and too much.

NEW $40,000 THEATRE OPENS SUNDAY IN PAHOKEE

Above is shown the New Prince Theatre in Pahokee which will be opened on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. No reserved seats will be sold for the opening show. It was stated by the management. A erected by Don Hillier and Sons, general contractors, of Pahokee.

You Must Have 12 Good Teeth
And Be Physically Fit If You Want To Join Uncle Sam's Army

Rules & Regulations Set For Men Who Would
Don Uniforms

Every man inducted into the army under the Selective Service Act must be able to see well; have comparatively good hearing; have a heart able to withstand the stress of physical exertion; be intelligent enough to understand and execute military maneuvers, obey commands and protect himself; and be able to transport himself by walking as the exigencies of military life may demand.

National Headquarters, Selective Service System, today dispatched these general instructions together with detailed regulations of physical standard requirements for trainees under the Selective Service Act, to all physicians who will examine prospective soldiers.

The physical requirements are the same as those set forth in the War Department's "Standards of Physical Examinations during Mobilization." Navy standards will be issued when the Navy begins inducting men under the Selective Service Act.

In general, trainees must be at least five feet tall and not more than six feet-six inches in height; must have twelve natural teeth including three upper and three lower masticating teeth and three upper and three lower incisors; must weigh not less than 105 pounds nor more than would permit normal physical activity; must have good vision and must have feet which can stand long marches.

Unlike the days of the World War, when only sketchy instructions went to physicians who examined men under the draft laws, the doctors attached to local boards and medical advisory boards will follow a standard form in their examination of prospective trainees.

Only those men who are classified by their local boards as available for military service will be ordered to keep in Class 1-A, the class immediately available for general military service, only those men who meet the general requirements. Men deemed physically unfit for general active military service, but fit for special and limited military service will be listed in Class 4-F.

Flat feet, glasses, hay fever, loss of a finger or toe, will not necessarily disqualify men for training and service. Color blindness is definitely not a cause for disqualification. Cancer, tuberculosis, leprosy and some other diseases are cause for rejection.

In view of the experience of the World War, physicians are warned by the instructions to be on the alert for malingerers who might attempt to evade training and service by feigning ailments. There are many methods suggested for the detection of sham illness and in regard to possible prosecution of men who indulge in trickery.

In general, men ordered by their local boards to submit to a physical examination will be required to report to the physician within five days after mailing of the order.

Men who have defects which require hospitalization will not be accepted.

Prospective trainees having acute or chronic venereal diseases will be placed in Class 1-B, and will not be accepted by the Army until cured.

Every registrant who is physically examined will have blood tests for syphilis made.

Each high school in Florida has been invited to send two students to the Youth Parley meeting at Southern College, Lakeland, Nov. 9-12. Harold D. Meyer, professor of sociology, University of North Carolina, will be a feature speaker. He will talk on "Youth and the American Scene."

Borrows Money To Pay Pension Checks

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 31.—With the tax receipts for payment of pensions for Confederate veterans and their widows below the appropriation, leaving the pension fund short the amount needed for October 31st pension checks, Comptroller J. M. Lee today drew on accumulated savings in the operation of the Comptroller's office to make possible the monthly distribution to veterans and widows.

He loaned $20,000 from the Gasoline Dealer's License Expense Fund to the Confederate Pension Fund.

"Operating" economies over the past twelve months enabled this department of the Comptroller's office to function for considerably less than the appropriation for the expenses," Comptroller Lee said. "Therefore, the balance which I have transferred, is truly a loanable balance in as much as it will not be needed before the pension fund's 1940 revenue accruals will permit repayment."

Ventilation Is Well Planned

The architect in preparing plans for the New Prince provided a ventilating system which should prove popular with the patrons. Two six-foot heavy duty blow type fans pull the air into the auditorium and two five-foot exhaust fans carry it out the opposite end of the building. The fans are controlled at all times by a switch which can be turned on or off at will. The fans are hidden from the view of the audience with specially constructed hoods which are painted to blend with the general color scheme.

Carpets Are Luxurious

One of the finest pieces of craftsmanship in the theatre was the installation of the thick, luxurious carpets. The carpets will cover the upper and lower floors of the auditorium. The pattern is made up of a rich swirl effect on a background of green and tinted with deep red. The offices on the right as you enter the building, will have floors covered with a solid material of mulberry shade, to blend with the office fixtures.

New Prince Theatre Constructed By Don Hillier, Pahokee Contractor

He Has Erected Many Fine
Buildings in Glades
Since 1935

Many handsome structures throughout the Lake Okeechobee farming region came into being under the watchful eye of Don Hillier. He is the head of Don Hillier and Sons, general contractors with offices in Pahokee.

Back in 1906 Mr. Hillier started in the contracting business in his native state of Massachusetts but 17 years later he came to Florida to make his home. So, since 1923 he has been busy engaged in bringing into reality several hundred buildings throughout the county.

The first building he erected in the Glades was the Gold Block in Pahokee which is now occupied by John Bolton's drug store and several other business concerns. It was in 1935 that he and his family moved to Pahokee from which place he has operated since. Other structures erected by Mr. Hillier and his sons, are among the outstanding buildings of the Lake Region. The New Prince theatre was erected by Mr. Hillier and it was under his watchful supervision that the handsome new structure took form and was built into one of the most beautiful buildings in South Florida. At present he has a crew of men busy on the new Sanders building in Belle Glade which will be one of the finest store and office buildings in this region when completed. Another crew of men now are in the process of relocating the Everglades theatre in Belle Glade.

During the past five years some of the buildings erected by Mr. Hillier are: The New Prince theatre in Pahokee, the new Sanders building in Belle Glade, the Sanders building in Pahokee, the town hall in Belle Glade, the elementary school in Pahokee, the elementary school in Belle Glade, the elementary school in South Bay, the ice plant at Lake Harbor, the colored school at Belle Glade, the Vann packing house, the Unity farms packing house and many residences throughout this area.

GOBS AND GALS MAKE MERRY

First Ticket Sold To Prince In May 1931 Preserved In Office

The old Prince theatre building in Pahokee, which will be used for the last time Saturday night of this week, was opened to the movie going public on the night of May 29, 1931. An interesting ceremony marked the opening of the then new and modern structure which for the first time was to be used for the showing of sound pictures.

On opening night E. G. Kilpatrick was master of ceremonies and several prominent business men took part on the program. Those listed in The Everglades News as making short talks were: Mayor Larrimore, Chamber Commerce Secretary Tradd Whiddon, Howard Sharp and Sheriff R. C. "Bob" Baker. Hundreds of telegrams of congratulations were received by the proprietors.

The first adult ticket for the opening of Mr. Gold's Prince theatre back in 1931 was sold to R. Elliott. The ticket is still in the files at the theatre office. Incidentally, the first adult ticket for the opening on Sunday afternoon has been sold to Mr. Elliott and Paul Hardin holds the first child's admission ticket for the opening of the New Prince.

Unusual Design In The Ceiling

The unusual design in the off-set ceiling of the auditorium of the New Prince theatre gives it a streamlined effect and is conducive to excellent sound. There are no sound traps in the ceiling of the auditorium and sound emitting from the screen will travel unhampered to the most remote corner of the building.

An automatic sprinkler system is a part of the permanent installations to provide instant and efficient assistance in case of fire.

Florida Is Free From Debt

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31.—Florida is the only state in the Union that is free of debt, according to a census bureau report just released, dealing with 1935 state government finances.

Connecticut was the only challenger for this distinction but there the state government showed a debt of $1,000. A constitutional provision prevents Florida from going in debt and accounts for this debt-free record.

The bureau reported both government operating costs and revenues increased in Florida in 1938.

Cost payment for the operation of the general government totaled $44,100,000. In 1937 they were $41,200,000. Old age assistance payments represented the major portion of the increase. In addition to operating expenditures, capital outlays amounted to $4,400,000 in 1938.

The bureau said that nearly one-half of Florida's revenue was paid by motorists in the form of gasoline and automobile license taxes.

Florida has been awarded the 1941 convention of the North Carolina Insurance Association which will bring some 400 delegates to Jacksonville next August, with headquarters at the Seminole Hotel. Following the convention, the entire group will visit Silver Springs, where a special program is planned for their entertainment.

It used to be that one-half of the world was curious about how the other half lived. This half isn't quite so interested today.

ROBIN HOOD OF THE SEAS

In the title role of "The Sea Hawk," Errol Flynn portrays a galley slave who became the daring chief of the most dangerous band of men ever to fight under the flag of the "skull and crossbones." This outstanding picture will be shown at the Everglades theatre on Sunday and Monday and at the New Prince theatre in Pahokee on Tuesday night.

The second feature film to be flashed across the screen of the New Prince theatre in Pahokee will be "The Sea Hawk," starring Errol Flynn. The outstanding film will be shown at the New Prince on Tuesday night, Nov. 5, after "The Return of Frank James," fills the Sunday and Monday engagement.

All of romance, adventure and thrills are packed into one great screen epic, "The Sea Hawk," which is scheduled as the next feature attraction for the Prince Theatre, starting Friday. Errol Flynn heads the cast of thousands and featured with him are Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Flora Robson and Alan Hale.

Rife with dramatic incidents revolving about England's famous sea hawk, who sailed the seven seas in his pirate galleons, their sails full-bellied in the wind, "The Sea Hawk" is a tale of the Old World in the sixteenth century.

The film concerns itself with the intrigues of Spain's King Philip and his henchmen directed against the court and possessions of England's good Queen Bess, played by Flora Robson. Flynn is seen as Geoffrey Thorpe, daring captain of a buccanier ship engaged in piratical pursuits against England's enemies. With his lusty crew of privateers, he attacks home-bound Spanish galleons loaded with rich booty and robs them to swell England's dwindling coffers. In his capacity of a sort of "Robin Hood of the seas," he has the unofficial but wholehearted approval of his Queen.

On one of these plundering expeditions, he takes prisoner one of Philip's emissaries to England, a haughty Spanish nobleman, portrayed by Claude Rains. With a Spanish ambassador in his lovely niece, Maria, played by Brenda Marshall. She despises Thorpe as a pirate thief until he makes amends by returning her jewel casket to her, and explaining that on the Spanish ship were hundreds of Englishmen who had been taken prisoners and impressed as galley slaves. Thus begins a romance which blossoms into true love despite the barriers that strive to separate them.

When they arrive in England, the Spanish ambassador protests the indignity of the seizure incident to the Queen. In her private chambers, she first scolds and then praises Thorpe when he presents her with the treasure retrieved from the Spanish galleon and tells her of the enslaved Englishmen so has released. He also urges the need of a fleet against the day when the Spanish Armada will attack. England is poor, the Queen explains, and must remain at peace with her enemies until she is able to engage them in a war.

Thorpe then outlines a plan whereby he can salvage considerable gold from the Spaniards in Panama. She bids him go ahead on the daring venture, which she agrees must be carried on with the utmost secrecy. Maria learns that the Spanish have gotten knowledge of his plan, but before she can notify him, he has set sail for Panama. Arriving in the West Indies, he and his men work into the trap set for them by the Spaniards. They are all impressed as galley slaves until they can be returned to Spain for trial by the Inquisition.

When news of the affair reaches England, the Queen, orders the arrest of all sea hawks, under a law of her father's, who ambassador is preparing to return home, but Maria refuses to go with him, insisting upon remaining in England. Thorpe's men capture him, while Thorpe slips into his place in the carriage and rides back to the palace with Maria. At the palace, he has to fight his way through the Chancellor's guards to get to the Queen and expose Spain's plan to her. Thorpe is knighted for his service to England, while Maria rewards him for his service with all her love.

Recently produced, "The Sea Hawk" richly recreates the colorful days of Elizabeth's reign, the awe-inspiring clash of mighty galleons, outlaws ringing in battle for gold, for beautiful ladies, for supremacy of the Spanish Main. Michael Curtis, Hollywood's action film director, has kept it moving at a steady pace, with emphasis on stirring adventure from the moment of its unfolding on the screen to the final scene.

Governor Cone and Governor-elect Spessard Holland have been invited, Coderington said. A number of other prominent men and women will participate in the program.

It's a funny thing how you'll ask a man for the truth, and after he gives it to you, you don't believe him anyway.

Will Discuss Aid To Children

AMENDMENTS BEFORE VOTERS NEXT TUESDAY ARE THOROUGHLY DISCUSSED

Russell Kay, State Press Secretary, Renders His Opinion On Proposals

Voters Should Familiarize Themselves With Proposals Before Tuesday

While interest naturally centers in the selection of a President at the general election November 5, Floridians should bear in mind that six important proposed constitutional amendments will come before the electorate of this state for consideration, and ever voter should familiarize himself or herself with these amendments so as to be able to vote on them intelligently.

The Amendments are as follows: (1) Abolishment of state and valorem taxes. (2) Establishment of a State Parole Commission. (3) Tax distribution, authorizing the legislature to allocate and distribute racing revenues to each county. (4) Provision for a Supreme Court of 7 Justices, each serving a 6-year term. (5) Providing for 4-year term for County Commissioners and giving legislature power to prescribe the number of districts in a county. (6) Exemption from taxes to the value of $500 to every widow and to every person who is a bonafide resident of Florida and has lost a limb or has been disabled by war or misfortune.

As a citizen of Florida the legislature has given you the power to say by your ballot how you wish to handle these important issues. It is your duty as a citizen to inform yourself fully concerning these amendments and to vote according to your best judgment.

Advantages in the abolishment of ad valorem taxes are that it would tend to demand greater economy in governmental expenses, prove attractive to new settlers and be in accord with the taxation program of Governor-elect Holland. Disadvantages talk funds from schools, pensions, health, prisons, tick eradication and free text books, but the amount is relatively small and could easily be made up from other sources.

Establishment of a State Parole Commission would do away with the present pardon board and provide an agency to intelligently handle the parole of prisoners giving Florida a set-up similar to all but two other states, where it has worked with good results. It would provide for more care and investigation in parole cases and should put a stop to wholesale pardoning of criminals, as is now practiced. Such a commission would have great power, and could be dangerous in the hands of corrupt politicians.

Provision for 7 Justices of the Supreme Court is needed to speed up the work of the court and eliminate "split" decisions that now frequently occur. The court would have two divisions of three Justices each with the concurrence of the Chief Justice required for a decision by either division. The amendment provides that the present Governor would appoint the seventh Justice to hold office until 1943, thereafter to be elected by the people as are the other Justices.

The amendment affecting the term of county commissioners is one that directly applies to local government in your community and should have your most thoughtful consideration. It is proposed that such commissioners be elected for a term of four instead of two years. At present the number of commissioners in each county is limited by law to five, however, under the proposed amendment the legislature would have power to create any number of districts and this fact paves the way for unlimited political racketeering as efforts would be made by local political groups to have additional commissioners' districts created to gain advantage for themselves. The amendment offers no improvement or advantage to the citizen and taxpayer and should be defeated.

The Widow's Pension amendment provides that all widows be favored with tax exemption on property to the value of $500 and does away with the existing clause in the constitution which reads "that has a family dependent on her for support." Its passage would help many widows entitled to assistance who are not receiving it. The amendment also gives similar exemption to those who have lost a limb or have been disabled by either war or misfortune. Some oppose the amendment on the grounds that under its provisions, wealthy widows would receive the same consideration as those who are destitute, but it is pointed out that the amount of the exemption is so small that it would offer little advantage to a wealthy person and yet means a great deal to one who is poor. The amendment should be passed.

The Tax Distribution amendment would give the legislature power to distribute and allocate all excise taxes now collected by the State of Florida from the operation of pari-mutuel pools (race track money), and provides that such distribution shall be in equal amounts to each county. The passage of this amendment is to confirm the right of the legislature to such action and declare future legislation directed toward a fairer distribution of such funds. While advantageous to the small counties, in that it would insure their receiving an equal share of such revenues regardless of population, it is unfair to the larger counties that produce such revenue and should a future legislature be inclined to change the basis of allocating such funds it should be prevented from doing so should this amendment pass.

Talk to your legislators, your newspaperman and other informed persons so that you will be prepared to vote on these important amendments.
